

December 1, 2022

Dear Valued Customer and Partner,

Miller Energy is pleased to announce the acquisition of Applied Measurement & Controls (AM&C) as of December 1, 2022. Since 1974, AM&C has been a leading Representative and Distributor of Process Instrumentation and Control equipment serving the Upstate New York area. With over 100 years of combined experience, the merger of our two companies will offer our customers the most technical customer support and application expertise in the industry, an unparalleled product portfolio, and a continued commitment to outstanding customer service.

Our Upstate New York operations will continue to operate out of the Rochester NY area at the address below.

Miller Energy Inc
